

Maureen Haslam

I lived in a state of anxiety from, all the while I was at school and I was relieved when I left that's all I can say. I just didn't like school. I didn't like being bullied and I always felt an outsider and I think that stops with you all of your life really. It does have an effect on you being evacuated. I, to me, it's never been discussed, the effect it has on evacuees, on their personality. And I think if somebody delved in that they'd be quite surprised.