So they had us in this field all sat around and the people came and picked you out. My little sister was heart broken 'cause we were split up although she only lived round the corner. She wasn't at all happy and settled. But the woman we was in, she was only a young, married woman and she was very kind. She bought us clothes and you know, went, took us out. We didn't go anywhere special you know but we went shopping. They took us to the pub the first night and bought us a bag of crisps and a bottle of pop, absolutely unheard of that was! We thought that was wonderful. Yes she was alright. And her husband was ever such a nice bloke, he really was a nice, kind bloke, they were only a young couple. Hadn't been married very long. It was good of her really to take us in, I mean two kids, but she was alright we were well fed and looked after.
