“The flush, the loo, the fact that they were dry loos didn’t worry me at all, and er, when I said “can you tell me where it is please?” they said “Well we’ll come with you” and I thought we were just going to show me where this was and when we went inside this room there was this row of seats, well it was one long seat with three holes in. Er, mine was a bit lower down for children and I was appalled I thought what do I do? And I looked the other way and I thought well I’m going to have to go you know there was no other option I had to sit down and er I think I referred to it as a bonding session.”
