“You were different. Yeah “oh wher’ve you come from” you know I can remember I can’t just recall where it was but I can remember this lad saying “Where do you come from?” and it was so easy to say London rather than Shepperton and he said “Ee I’ve got an aunt lives down there” and it was something that was very different, you know you were, I won’t say that you were treated like a foreigner but certainly not like a local person. Yeah.”
