“But we were allowed to choose that we could stay evacuated I think and about a dozen of us, or fourteen of us, and I think Ann and Mary Heney, I think they chose to stay at Uttoxeter for the term from Christmas to Easter about twelve of us went back to Uttoxeter and they used to send a mistress up every, every week a different one, and erm, like one week the French mistress would come up and we’d all be learning French, and the next week the Maths teacher would come up and we’d all be learning Maths, and it was a strange arrangement, I think we did all that in the, in the local village hall. But it, it was all little, it was all how it could be done.”
