“OK well this bungalow, Kencott, there was an orchard in the front, I remember that, loads of fruit trees, and er, I used to, I used to nearby was a place called Cannock Chase and the army used to do manoeuvres down there, you know they were doing, testing things I suppose I don't know, well I know one day I got a ride in a tank, I don't forget that, yeah that was brilliant. Well we were just down there and the army were doing exercises and a soldier came over and, and I went in a tank. Up in the turret you know, I was only about five or something like that. That was brilliant.”
