

Alma James

“I think we were told at school there’d be some evacuees, we thought it was quite fun, funny really, we were wondering what to expect and we enjoyed it, yeah we did. Yes they, er some of the ones that I knew, they’d come from London, they were proper cockneys, they used to tickle us to death with the way they spoke, you know, yeah, they were always nice, friendly really, nobody had any, there was no fighting, not as you’d imagine there would be now, there was no fighting. No.”
